MR. BURKETT'S PERMIT

Shall This New Druggist Be Allowed to Sell Liquor.

SOME OBJECTIONS MADE TO IT.

Although He Has Names of Many Reputable Citizens Signed to His Petition.

The case of P. J. M. Burkett, the Kansas avenue druggist who desires a permit to sell intoxicating liquors, occupied a greater part of the day at the probate court yesterday.

Burkett came here some time ago from Kingman and about three months ago opened his store on the east side of Kansas avenue between Sixth and Seventh. Yesterday he filed with the probate judge an application for a permit to sell intoxicating liquors.

Albert Watkins came from Kingman also and has known Burkett for several years. He says that Burkett is not a fit man with whom to entrust the selling of intoxicating liquors and has filed a remonstrance in the court to that effect. In the trial yesterday Watkins endeavored to show that the petition was not sufficient as Burkett didn't circulate it himself. He also brought into court a court record from the district court of Kingman county by which to show that Burkett had been convicted there of selling intoxicating liquors contrary to law and that the case had been appealed to the supreme court.

Mr. Watkins seems to have the courage of his convictions for he said that he was in no one's employ, that he had nothing personal in the nature of ill feeling for Mr. Burkett but he was doing this to protect the community.

On the other side the list of names was found to be all right, and there were several affidavits and witnesses to prove that Mr. Burkett was of good moral character. Among them were the affidavits of A. P. Miller, John Carter and

S. H. Snider, superintendent of insurance, who also came from Kingman.

Following are the names that were signed to the petition: L. M. Crawford, H. E. Dutton, A. L. House, Michael Berg, John Steele, J. N. Carter, George W. Veale, C. H. Culp, Dr. W. C. Hamilton, E. E. Strait, H. C. Gardner, C. K. Holliday, Jr., J. S. Earnest, Joseph Groll, Wm. Kietzman, F. Mawhony, H. W. Euler, E. G. Moon, A. W. Earnest, Ed. Hawes, W. F. Ellison, G. H. Elliott, A. A. Rodgers, Calvin Brewer, F. T. Zimmerman, Joseph Grenlick, F. P. Rodgers, George Younggreen, H. A. Randall, S. A. Kingman, and Walter Veale. The thirty women are as follows: M. E. Crawford, C. E. Dutton, C. A. Case, M. House, Alice L. Boyd, S. E. Hamilton, N. Y. Moon, Ida Rodgers, Mrs. A. Ferris, Della Smith, Mrs. Lottie Ugg, Mrs. George Younggreen, Mrs. John Spillner, Mrs. Lizzie Simons, Mrs. M. R. Karr, Mrs. Rooster, Mrs. O. H. Saxton, Mrs. J. Berry, Mrs. Blood, Mrs. Greenbaum, Mrs. M. Greenbaum, Mrs. H. Hanson, Mrs. E. E. Horton, Mrs. Sophia Fleisch, Mrs. Eva Johnson, Mrs. Maria Shepard, Ada Nelson, Mrs. Eva M. Moore.

Judge Elliott told the parties to the suit that he would not issue any permits to any new druggists till the suits now in the district court against certain druggists had been settled.

A VERY WARM OCTOBER.

Prof. F. H. Snow Tells About Last Month's Weather.

Prof. F. H. Snow of the University of Kansas, from observations taken at Lawrence, says in his monthly weather report:

By far the warmest October since 1886, and one of the four warmest Octobers on record. The second half of the month, however, was much warmer than any last half of October in the entire twenty-seven years of our observations. The first frost of the season occurred on the 30th, ten days later than the average date. The rainfall was abundant, the wind velocity high. The percentage of cloudiness was extremely low, and the month was one of the clearest ever noted at this station.

Mean temperature—58.65 degrees, which is 4.32 degrees above the October average. The highest temperature was 87.5 degrees, on the 20th; the lowest was 28.5 degrees, on the 31st.

Rainfall—3.99 inches, which is 1.11 inches above the October average. Rain in measurable quantities fell on nine days. There were two thunder showers. The entire rainfall for the ten months of 1894 now completed is 28.12 inches, which is 4.18 inches below the average for the same months in the twenty-six years preceding.

CORBETT'S LONG WALK

He Strolled Out Four Miles West of Topeka Yesterday.

PART OF HIS DAILY TRAINING.

An Immense Audience Sees the American Champion at the Grand.

Mr. Corbett of New York was very much pleased with the reception Topeka gave him at the Grand last night, and was particularly pleased because there were so many ladies present. That's Corbett's weak spot. He likes to have ladies present. The audience that gathered at the Grand last night was a fine one.

Before the curtain went up he was much worried in his dressing room on account of the rain and was continually asking about the size of the house and if ladies were coming. "I don't care so much about the money, but I hate to have a light house," he said.

The play of "Gentleman Jack" is not strong in any particular. It was probably not intended to be. Corbett couldn't be on the stage all the time and there had to be something done to amuse the audience between battles.

The audience itself was immense. Every seat was full even to nearly all the boxes, and folks were standing up in the aisles.

There was a great uproar when Corbett came on the stage, soon after the curtain went up on the first act, and Corbett acknowledged it gracefully, with a smile.

People did not go to the play to see good acting, and were rather surprised to find out that it was even better than possible. After the first act, which was dull, the enthusiasm, especially from the upper floors, was great. There were some good musical specialties in the third act, in the Madison Square roof garden scene.

As an actor Corbett is a surprise, a surprise because he is able to say his lines well without overdoing it. He is easy on the stage, and makes an effort to do his work as thoroughly as possible. He takes a pride in it.

Of course the pugilistic features were the most prominent ones of the show, and when Corbett stepped out to punch the bag there was applause. And he punched it. He made it whistle, and sing, and dance, and moan, and shriek, and then he played tunes on it. Some times you couldn't see the bag nor Corbett's hands at all.

There was lots of quick work done in the ring scene, in the last act, between Corbett and Steve O'Donnell, and the public caught some glimpses of how the champion managed to get out of the way of Sullivan's jabs at New Orleans two years ago.

Stripped, Corbett doesn't look much like a fighter. He is well built and tall but his limbs do not seem to be more than ordinarily muscular.

Withal the show pleased most of the people who went to see it and Corbett was a favorite. The company plays in Wichita tonight and the champion left for there this forenoon at 10:40.

A BOOK FOR ORPHANS.

Mrs. C. S. Baker Has Prepared a Nice Volume For the Orphans' Home Fair.

Mrs. C. S. Baker of Topeka, has prepared an attractive volume of original stories for children, which will be sold exclusively at the annual Orphans' home fair in December. The volume is in the hands of Hall & O'Donnell, who have agreed to produce it at the actual cost of publication. It will be bound in attractive blue and gilt board covers. The price of the book will be regulated by its cost, but the proceeds will go entirely to the Home. Mrs. Baker is a graceful writer, and has been urged to prepare such a volume for other charitable enterprises. The book has been pronounced excellent by the best local critics.
